

How To Accept Stream Team Invites TeamMidnite.tv

Effective Dates: 12/13/24 to 12/13/25

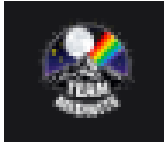

What: Accepting a stream team invite

Check your Twitch linked email for an invite should look like this

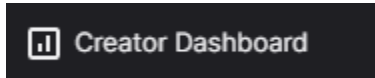

(if you don't have an invite in your email, no worries we can find it in another way)

Click on your profile pic in the corner and select Creator Dashboard

Click on Creator Dashboard in the menu selection

You'll be greeted with your dashboard main menu, in this page you'll want to click on the drop down menu Settings and click Channel then in the right of the page you'll want to hit "Featured Content" Featured Content then scroll down until you reach "My Teams" you'll see team invites pending from your teams you've applied for hit accept

Once You Accept you can only main one team but be part of many teams. Please also look to see if the stream teams want you to select the “Stats” or “Revenue” check marks.

Team Midnite and its sister teams require Stats, but your Revenue is optional, stream teams with the requirement to also apply their logos are required to provide the logos check with your team, Midnite is optional but we recommend it for members to apply a logo within their channel somewhere.

Midnite Recommends checking with your leaders if you can be part of other teams as well, before applying if you applied and were accepted, and you choose to leave the team you can leave the team you were planning to replace it with via My Teams area where the trash can is.

Note: We allow you to be part of other teams, again you can be part of many without leaving, but check with leaders or the partner that has the team, many may require you to main the team your part of, we do not require you to main our team.

If you accidentally remove yourself from Midnite you can always open a #Get-Help Ticket within the discord.

If you have any further questions, please let us know in the Discord at #Get-Help, we're always here to help.
